The Retail Consumer Alliance (RCA) was organized in 2008 to foster stronger community partnerships between consumers and the retail industry. We do this by funding an annual educational scholarship program and making an annual contribution to the Feeding America Food Banks for North and South Carolina.

Eligibility for the scholarship program is limited to students who have worked for a minimum of six months for a CFIC member company or to students whose parents have worked a minimum of one year for a CFIC member company. The applications are forwarded to an Academic Scholarship Evaluator, and based on objective, measurable point-based criteria established by the RCA Board.

Applicants agree that scholarship funds are to be used solely for educational purposes and for that reason made payable to the educational institution. In the event the applicant does not attend an educational institution in the school year for which scholarship funds were to be awarded or for a partial school year, the scholarship applicant acknowledges that they have no property or vested rights in said scholarship funds, that the Retail Consumer Alliance Foundation, Inc. maintains all rights to these funds and that said funds shall be returned to the Retail Consumer Alliance Foundation, Inc. by the educational institution.
